Only certain types of actions can be brought to Juvenile Court.

Delinquency: A delinquent child is a child who has committed an act that is considered a crime and is in need of treatment or rehabilitation.

Unruly: An unruly child is a child who has committed an offense that only applies to a child, such as truancy, consuming or possessing alcohol, disobedience of parental commands, or using tobacco, and is in need of treatment or rehabilitation.

Deprivation: A deprived child is a child who is “without proper parental care or control necessary for the child’s physical, mental or emotional health, or morals, and the deprivation is not due primarily to the lack of financial means of the child’s parents, guardian or other custodian.”

Termination of Parental Rights: An order terminating parental rights of a parent terminates all the parent's rights and obligations with respect to the child and of the child to or through the parent arising from the parental relationship.

Filing the Petition with the North Dakota Juvenile Court:

Petitions filed in juvenile court that are not filed by a state's attorney, must be reviewed and approved by the juvenile court director, the juvenile court, or other person authorized by the juvenile court.

- File the original petition with the clerk of court. You will not be charged a filing fee.

If Your Petition is Approved, Arrange for Service of Summons and Petition:

If the petition is allowed to be filed, you, the self-represented Petitioner, may be required to prepare the Juvenile Court Summons. The summons requires the Respondents listed in the petition to appear before the court at the time fixed to answer the allegations of the petition.

Service to start a juvenile court action, also called service of process, requires delivery of the summons and a copy of petition to the Respondents. The Petitioner is required to notify the Respondents of the claims and to give the Respondents time to respond.

If you, the self-represented Petitioner, are required to prepare the Juvenile Court Summons, the ND Legal Self Help Center does not have a form or an example. You may wish to ask the clerk of court if an example can be provided to you.

Proof of service is an important step in the legal process. If proof of service is not filed, the juvenile court will not act on your petition.

The proof of service to start a juvenile court action tells the juvenile court when, how, and where the Respondents were served the summons and copy of the petition. An affidavit of service gives the court proof of service.

The summons must be served in specific ways. Review the information about service to start a Juvenile Court action available in the “Juvenile Court” section at www.ndcourts.gov/legal-self-help. Affidavit of service forms are also available.
