Faculty

Lloyd Rath, is the Coordinator of the Domestic Violence Offender Treatment Program at the Community Violence Intervention Center. He has co-facilitated offender treatment groups since 1998 and has been the program's coordinator since February of 2003.

Lloyd retired from the US Army as a First Sergeant after 20 years of service. He then attended the University of North Dakota and, in 1981, received his bachelor's degree in social work. Between 1981 and 2003, Lloyd work in the field of probation. Since February 2003, Lloyd has coordinated the state Batterers' Treatment Forum for the North Dakota Council on Abused Women's Services and serves on several committees for the Grand Forks Coordinated Community Response Project.

Kari Kerr Welsch, M.A., LPC, is the Prevention and Education Program Coordinator at the Community Violence Intervention Center, Inc. She received her Master's degree in counseling from the University of North Dakota and is a licensed professional counselor. Welsh is also a Certified Comprehensive Direct Service Provider through the North Dakota Council on Abused Women's Services/Coalition Against Sexual Assault. Welsh has worked in the area of domestic violence for the past 16 years providing victims with crisis intervention, individual and group counseling, advocacy, and assistance with obtaining protection orders. She currently trains and educates professionals and community members about the dynamics of victimization and how to respond accordingly. She also provides training nationally for the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center and National Sheriff's Association.
